ABSTRACT

This report summarizes data collected by the Central Staff Office of Institutional Research of the State University of New York based on a questionnaire completed annually for the National Education Association. The institutions included in this study are all those that offer programs in education that enable students to be recommended for New York State certification. Information is presented through the use of 118 tables that provide the following information: institution name or certification area; total persons completing preparation; number teaching in and out of New York State; number employed in administrative and supporting positions in and out of state; number otherwise gainfully employed; number continuing formal study; number in military service; number in homemaking; number seeking a teaching position; number seeking an administrative or supporting staff position; number seeking other employment; and others. The report is divided into five sections: (1) Provisional Certifications--Institutional Summaries; (2) Provisional Certifications--Certification Area Summaries; (3) Permanent Certifications--Institutional Summaries; (4) Permanent Certifications--Certification Area Summaries; and (5) a list of central staff office publications. PREFACE

This report summarizes data collected by the Central Staff Office of Institutional Research based on a questionnaire completed annually for the National Education Association. The institutions included in this study are all those which offer programs in education that enable students to be recommended for New York State Certification.

This office also publishes data concerning the number of education certifications recommended each year by institution, certification area, type of certificate, and sex of recipient. These publications are entitled Preparation of Educational Personnel and are available in all libraries of the State University of New York (see Publications List, page 195).

A follow up study such as this could not have been accomplished were it not for the participation of the institutional respondents and the professional, statistical and typing staff of the Central Staff Office of Institutional Research.

SUMMARY OF DATA

A follow-up study of this nature requires a great deal of record keeping at the institutional level. The total number of certifications recommended by State University of New York institutions by type of certificate and sex of recipient is summarized below:

Education Certifications Recommended to the New York State Education Department
July 1, 1974 through June 30, 1975

	Total	Provisional	Permanent
Total	10,284[a]	7,418	2,866
Men	3,010	2,148	862
Women	7,274	5,270	2,004

It is clear from the data presented in this report that the placement, if any, of large numbers of students is not known by the institutions. The following table presents data on the number and percent of students by type of certificate, about whom institutions have no follow-up information:

Students for Whom Institutions
Report No Follow-up Information

	Total		Provisional		Permanent
	Number	Percent of all certifications recommended	Number	Percent of provisional certifications recommended	Number	Percent of permanent certifications recommended
Total	5,176	50.3	3,446	46.5	1,730	60.3
Men	1,506	50.0	1,005	46.8	501	58.1
Women	3,670	50.4	2,441	46.3	1,229	61.3

[a]The total number of students recommended for certification and reported here includes 19 students omitted from institutional reports which generated the Preparation of Educational Personnel report published in June 1976.

As this table shows, no placement information is available for 46.5 percent of persons recommended for provisional certification and for 60.3 percent of persons recommended for permanent certification. Discussions with institutional respondents revealed that many persons completing preparation for permanent certification were already teaching full-time and therefore did not utilize the services of the placement office. This theory is borne out in some respects by the fact that of those students whose occupational status is known, a greater percentage of those recommended for permanent certification are reported as teaching in state (28.1 percent), than are reported in that category with provisional certification (19.7 percent).

The percentages of men and women in each occupational category vary only slightly, except for the category of provisional certifications--"teaching outside state". In this category, we find 2.9 percent of all persons recommended for provisional certification: 4.1 percent of the men and only 2.4 percent of the women.

The five occupational categories representing the greatest percentages of students are arrayed below by type of certificate.

Provisional		Permanent
Occupational category	Percent of total	Occupational category	Percent of total
TOTAL	100.0	TOTAL	100.0
No information	46.5	No information	60.4
Teaching in state	19.7	Teaching in state	28.1
Seeking a teaching position	15.4	Employed in admin/supp staff	3.7
Otherwise gainfully employed	8.0	Seeking a teaching position	3.5
Continuing formal study	6.0	Otherwise gainfully employed	2.2
Teaching outside state	2.9	Teaching outside state	1.1
Other occupational categories	1.5	Other occupational categories	1.0

The nature of the certificate types obviously influences the occupational categories represented. There are more certification areas which are in the category of "employed in administration/support" which are recommended as permanent certificates than as provisional certificates, therefore this category is among the five major categories for permanent, but not for provisional certificates. The category "continuing formal study" represents 6.0 percent of persons recommended for provisional certification, but only a minute percentage (0.4 percent) of persons recommended for permanent certification. The provisional certificate may be considered the primary credential for teaching, while the permanent certificate is the terminal credential. Simply stated, persons recommended for permanent certification are not required to obtain any additional academic credit to remain teaching, where as those with provisional certification have a limited time frame within which to earn permanent certificates.
